THE SOUND OF THINGS FALLING Juan Gabriel Vásquez Translated by Anne McLean

No sooner does he get to know Ricardo Laverde in a seedy billiard hall in Bogotá than Antonio Yammara realizes that the ex-pilot has a secret. Antonio's fascination with his new friend's life grows until the day Ricardo received a mysterious, unmarked cassette. Shortly afterwards, he is shot dead on a street corner. Yammara's investigation into what happened leads back to the early 1960s, marijuana smuggling and a time before the cocaine trade trapped Colombia in a living nightmare.

Juan Gabriel Vasquez was born in Bogotá in 1973. His previous books include The Informers, which was shortlisted for the Independent Foreign Fiction Prize, and The Secret History of Costaguana, which won the Qwerty prize in Barcelona. His books have been published in fifteen languages worldwide. After sixteen years in France, Belgium and Spain, he now lives in Bogotá.

Anne McLean has translated Latin American and Spanish novels, short stories, memoirs and other writings by authors including Hector Abad, Carmen Martín Gaité, Julio Cortázar, Ignacio Martínez de Pison, Enrique Vila-Matas and Tomás Eloy Martínez. She lives in Toronto.

"A masterful writer"—Nicole Krauss

"One of the most original new voices of Latin American literature"—Mario Vargas Llosa

"Like Bolaño, [Vasquez] is a master stylist and a virtuoso of patient pacing and intricate structure."—Lev Grossman

"the most engrossing Latin American novel I've read since Roberto Bolaño's 2666 ... masterful ... hypnotic."
